Lesson 21

God Preserves Jacob

Genesis 28-33

Memory Verse

And, behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest, and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of.

Genesis 28:15

The Consequences of Jacob's Actions

Isaac blessed Jacob with the blessing that Abraham received of God (Genesis 28:4). This was the blessing that God said should come upon Jacob (Genesis 25:23). However, because Jacob received the blessing by deceit, he would not only cause turmoil in the family, but would also be deceived. Esau hated Jacob with such a deep hatred that he desired to kill his brother. The knowledge of this hatred would stay with Jacob throughout his long stay in a strange land. How heavy a burden to be always fearful!

As Jacob deceived his father, so Jacob would be deceived by Laban. He would be deceived, not only as regarded the cattle, but also regarding Rachel. Do not the words of Christ ring true? – “For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again” (Matthew 7:2). What a lesson for us! To not be like Jacob but rather to hearken to the words of the Savior, “And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise” (Luke 6:31).

Finally, Jacob had two wives and two concubines. How far he had departed from the institution of marriage as laid down by God in Genesis 2:24, where we read “a man [shall] leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife: and they shall be one flesh.” How much trouble came into his family as the wives competed with one another and the sons despised each other. Departing from the wisdom of God's Word only ever brings sorrow.

Jacob Preserved by Grace

As we have seen, the life of Jacob was not perfect. It was full of trouble, trouble he often brought upon himself. Nevertheless, God had made a promise to Jacob. In that promise, God said “I am with thee, and will keep thee” (Genesis 28:15). Twenty years away from the land that the Lord had promised. Twenty years away because of his deceit of his father. Twenty years of strife with Laban. Yet, in the end we find God coming to Jacob and saying, "Return unto the land of thy fathers, and to thy kindred; and I will be with thee" (Genesis 31:3).

Twenty years later God comes to Jacob and encourages him with the same words with which he had encouraged him at Beth-el, when he first set out upon his journey – "I will be with thee." Why would God be with Jacob? Not because Jacob was good, but that the good God is also a gracious God – "It is of the LORD's mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions fail not" (Lamentations 3:22). Should not such thoughts humble us and cause us to lift up our voices in praise?

Discussion Questions

1. What do we read of Esau doing in Genesis 28:9? What motivated Esau to do this?

2. In Hebrews 1:14 we read, "Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?" How does this verse give meaning to Genesis 28:12-13?

3. Who stands at the top of the ladder? Why is this a comforting picture?

4. After Laban had overtaken Jacob, they made a covenant (Genesis 31:43-55). We note several elements in this transaction, which are representative of God's dealing with sinners. First, a covenant is established. Second, a sacrifice is made. Third, there is feasting. Fourth, a father blessing his children. Compare these four things with God's way of salvation.

- A covenant established - _____

- A sacrifice made - _____

- Feasting - _____

- A father blessing his children - _____

5. In Genesis 32:9-10 Jacob approaches God in prayer. How is it evident that Jacob approached God
1) with a humble heart? 2) as a faithful covenant God?

- with a humble heart? - _____

- as a faithful covenant God? - _____

6. After reading Genesis 32:12, explain what is the only encouraging ground in approaching God.

7. The life of a Christian is often marked by belief/faith and unbelief/doubt. It is like the life of the father, who said to Jesus, "I believe; help thou mine unbelief" (Mark 9:24). Are these two things evident in the life of Jacob? Explain (Consider: Genesis 32:7, 9-12, 20). Upon whose faithfulness does a Christian's hope rest?

- Evident in the life of Jacob? - _____

- Whose faithfulness? - _____

8. What does Jacob do in Genesis 32:24-26? How may this recorded event be instructive to us?
